PUT YOUR STRENGTHS TO WORK

Classroom Activity: Practice Log

Use the following information, along with the table, to practice writing a log that would be used by someone in a construction career.

Step 1: Read the following scenario.

Step 2: From the scenario, use the information to fill out the work log.

Step 3: Trade logs with a partner.

Step 4: Read one another's to see if you can understand their log. Talk with your partner about what was clearly written or what can be improved.

- On Mon., May 22, 2015, I arrived at the job on Venus Circle at 7:25 a.m. John McKenzie, William Jones, Karen Wiggins, and Mark Hall arrived right after me. We worked all day and took off for lunch from 12 to 1 p.m.

- On Tuesday, we all arrived at 7:30 a.m. It started to rain at 11:30 a.m. We packed up our tools and just before we left, William stepped on a nail and it went through the sole of his boot, got stuck in his foot, and was bleeding badly. I took him to the emergency room at Midwest Medical Center for treatment. He was treated by Dr. Allen Westgate and was released but told to stay home for the rest of the week. I will have to tell Sammy Warrens to replace William on the job starting tomorrow. It is supposed to rain the rest of the week so I will have to tell everyone to go to the job on Comet Street to work inside.
